In addition to high-quality cervical cancer screening and prenatal care, we also offer management of sexually transmitted infections, family planning services, and treatment of all cancers that commonly affect women. We have developed specific expertise in the screening, diagnosis, referral, and treatment of cervical cancer, which is the leading cause of death in Guatemala. 	Complex Care - We have pioneered a comprehensive medical network, which effectively brings the urban-rural divide and leverages medical and philanthropic resources both nationally and internationally. Our sophisticated case management, referral, and accompaniment system allows us to effectively treat extremely complex conditions, such as congenital heart disease, inborn errors of metabolism, end-stage kidney disease, and cancer. Our team of case managers all speak Mayan languages and do whatever it takes to overcome the entrenched structural barriers to health care of indigenous patients. We serve over 350 complex care patients annually.	106,377	0	0
	Primary Healthcare - We provide day-to-day health care for thousands of Guatemalans who do not have access to health services. Our providers teach patients to focus on health and do preventative medicine so that health care does not become focused solely on when they are sick. In this way we are promoting healthy lifestyles. Our providers coordinate care with other specialist care that the patient may need, including surgery and treatment. At the current time we are providing care for over 20,000 patients in 11 community-based health clinics.	48,064	13,500	11,700
